TABLE FOR TEN

OC's top charity event returns

BY ANDY HUME

Table for Ten returns with Orange County's most prestigious annual culinary spectacular, featuring an all-star cast of some of the most lauded chefs and restaurants in Southern California. And it's all to benefit an excellent cause—local nonprofit, The Teen Project—which serves at-risk young women with housing, counseling, and career support.

reception and live auction featuring top-notch prizes and adventures.

"It's the best culinary event in Orange County that shouldn't be missed. The excitement of all these chefs cooking together, but preparing their dishes—all under one roof—is incredible. It's exciting for me each year because I get to work all year on creating my special menu," Pascal Olhats explains.

"It's a cool and exciting event. We get to choose our spotlight introduction song, which is always entertaining. The event is all about the chefs. This is the one time of the year when we get to hang out and do something exciting for a really good cause," participant chef, Adam Navidi of Oceans & Earth, adds.

This year's beneficiary cause, The Teen Project, has made an immense difference in the lives of dozens of Southern California young women in recent years. The Teen Project provides homes, resources, and support for at-risk young women (ages 18-25), many of whom are homeless or aging out of foster care, and are often victims of sex trafficking. The Teen Project has recently acquired Vera's Sanctuary in Trabuco Canyon, a former Boys Town property and home to 60 teens and young women. Donations from Table for Ten will help The Teen Project provide drug counseling, education, and continued support to help these women turn their lives around for the better. A proud sponsor, Nestle Waters has been supporting the event and charities for over 12 years.

This is truly an event not to be missed—a once in a lifetime experience that helps the lives of many young women in need.

Table for Ten will be held at the Laguna Cliffs Marriott Resort & Spa on March 3. To reserve your table visit TABLEFORTEN.ORG.
